intervened on May 5 and had applied presidential pressure to both sides to be careful. In doing so he had singled out one industry at which to apply the pressure. There were other steps he could have taken, but didn't because, perhaps, he was being guided by his philosophy of minimum government interference.

He could have taken the drastic step of using the Taft-Hartley Act to delay any strike at least 30 days. He could have taken the much milder step of asking both sides to let federal mediators help them reach a settlement.

He did neither. Yet a steel strike, it prolonged, might hurt the economy worse than inflation, for it might turn it into a spin-back from the 1953 recession.

Housing Bill Doesn't Suit Democrats

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats balked today at accepting the Eisenhower administration's newest version of a housing bill. Instead, Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said a banking subcommittee he heads will begin hearings soon on President Eisenhower's veto of a Democratic-sponsored measure the chief executive called extravagant and inflationary.

"We know the President is wrong in the statements he made about this bill and we are going to show on record that he is wrong," Sparkman said in an interview.

Sparkman joined Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in denouncing Eisenhower's contention that the vetoed bill would have involved $2,200,000,000 in expenditures. The Democrats estimated costs of the two-year program at $1,375,000,000.

Johnson told the Senate Tuesday that Eisenhower's figure was arrived at by a "Madison Avenue gimmick" of including estimates for possible public housing subsidies for the next 40 years. In the public housing program the federal government makes up by subsidy the difference between costs and rents received.

The new housing bill backed by Eisenhower was introduced in the House Monday by Reps. Gordon L. McDougough (R-Calif.) and Wit would force other industries, dependent on steel, to lay off workers.

"There seems to be wide agreement that a strike of short duration might not be too generally troublesome because so much steel was produced earlier this year in anticipation of a strike.

The talks droned on. After two months of talking and no results, the strike was to start July 1. Again Eisenhower intervened but still only mildly. He asked both sides to skip the strike date and keep talking.

They did but again the deadline for the strike was reached, with both sides reconciled to a shutdown. Then late Tuesday Eisenhower asked both sides to let federal mediators step in and work with them for agreement.

This move could have been made weeks ago. Neither side has to accept any recommendations the mediators make, yet both will be under tremendous pressure to accept, since the mediators represent the government and the public.

So all through this picture Eisenhower, who is reluctant to interfere in private dealings, has been interfering—but not enough to prevent the steel industry from reaching the point of a strike.

meetings this afternoon in New York with representatives of the industry and union.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, said he would offer industry negotiators an undisclosed plan for settlement of the strike.

"But I guess they'll turn it down," McDonald added in a talk to some 2,000 cheering union members at U.S. Steel Corp.'s Fairless workers near Morrisville, Pa., Tuesday night.

Promptly at midnight—and in some instances before—workers streamed in orderly fashion from mills across the country. Picket lines were set up quickly.

Major steelmaking facilities had been halted in anticipation of the strike and the final shutdowns came without incident.

Men at the mills greeted the strike with mixed emotions. Some left their jobs reluctantly; some militantly.

"We don't figure to give up what we've fought 20 years for," said Elmer Getty, a machinist at the Pittsburgh works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. A fellow worker Joe Liptak, said: "I hope it don't last. I want to work. I don't want to stay home."

Losses His Tools, Still a Carpenter

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A carpenter lost his carpenter tools, but it hasn't affected his being a carpenter.

Confusing? So was the report by police yesterday that Preston L. Carpenter, who lives at 201 Carpenter Drive, had lost carpenter tools over the July Fourth week.

burn B. Widnall (R-N.J.) and in the Senate Tuesday by Sen. Prescott B. Bush (R Conn.) Providing for no new public housing a would authorize a total of $10 million dollars in housing loans and grants.

The administration measure would provide 600 million for slum clearance to be met by congressional appropriations instead of the Bush described as "back-door financing by Treasury borrowing to finance the 90-million-dollar program in the vetoed measure."

Bills Would Give Hospital to Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bills to permit Arkansas to take over the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and operate it as a regional vocational rehabilitation center are moving ahead in Congress.

Two bills are involved — one would give Arkansas title to the hospital and the other would provide $200,000 in federal funds to help the state get the project started.

The bill involving state ownership of the land and buildings has passed the House and has been approved by the Senate government operations committee. It recently came up in the Senate under a procedure requiring unanimous consent for passage—which it did not receive. It can be brought up later, however, under regular procedure.

The appropriation is contained in the money bill carrying appropriations for the health, education and welfare department.

As passed by the House, the bill contained no money for the Hot Springs project but the Senate appropriations committee added $200,000 to the bill for that purpose.

This is the amount the sponsors estimated is needed for the remainder of the year which began July 1.

The Senate approved the bill and the measure now is before a Senate-House conference committee attempting to resolve differences in the two versions.

Rep. W. F. Norrell (D-Ark.) said he has no reason to believe that the conference committee will not approve the $200,000.

In adding that amount to the bill, the Senate committee indicated in its report on the measure the water about 49 hours.

The body was discovered by O. T. Adams, a fisherman. It was recovered by a fire department rescue unit.

Officers said there was no clue as to identity of the man, who was clad only in a tattered undershirt.

Detectives said the man had been about six feet tall and weighed between 200 and 220 pounds.

White-Negro Scenes Put Out of Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Two wedding scenes involving Negroes and whites have been dropped from the American show prepared for the American exhibition in Moscow.

More than 40 newspaper fashion editors who attended Tuesday's dress rehearsal protested the two scenes, saying they were not representative of the American way of life.

The protest petition, however, made no direct reference to racial mixing.

Originally there were three wedding scenes:

One depicted a civil marriage between Negro principals with white witnesses.

Another depicted the marriage in a garden of a white couple with Negroes among the guests.

There are three Negroes among the 47 men, women and children modeling the show.

Only the cathedral wedding will that additional funds would be needed later in order to complete the transition of the hospital into the vocational rehabilitation center.

It said its action would provide transitional support "for a period of from 3 to 5 years," subject to approval of the application by the advisory council for the rehabilitation program.
